

We had a nice program planned,
Sort of high-minded debate between the two parties.

Darley started for the Dems.

"A Republican died in our town and they screwed him into the ground."

Well...fairly high-toned.

She went on, chapter and verse, detailing the crimes under their bullshit rubric.
Ended with women-hating.

No problem there: just the truth.

Congressman Ruskon said he only needed ten minutes to recite his Freedom Mantra, But Party Chair sent a Wall who could have auditioned for The Godfather.

He said you don't use a teacup when you need a flame-thrower. So they pulled him!

So, next time a Hate Radio Stalwart only! Fire shot out of his eyes, ears, mouth, and asshole!

Did he despise women?

He answered that! "I have a wife and daughter and they strayed but once. I inSTRUCTED them!"
